

FOREIGN CREWS IN BIG REGATTA

International Rowing Contests to Be Feature of the Exposition.

OARSMEN WILL AID PROJECT

Splendid Course to Be Laid Out for Races—Athletic and Yachting Carnival.

International rowing will be one of the features of the Jamestown Exposition. Contests in this country between members of Europe, United States and Canada will be a decided novelty, and next year's rowing race will be more elaborate and comprehensive than ever before attempted in this country. Foreign teams have entered in football, tennis, polo and track athletic events, but it remains to be seen if the Jamestown Exposition managers will have the way for foreign crews, and absence of a suitable course and lack of watermen has been a serious drawback to American rowing, but the prospect of meeting European crews next summer has stirred up the rowing element in this country. The necessary preliminaries have been instituted, and the plans are under way which will place rowing far ahead of other sports from an international standpoint, and give to the Jamestown Exposition the unique honor of initiating international rowing contests.

The location could be better adapted to rowing, and a course will be laid out running parallel with the shore front of the exposition grounds, with a quarter mile view and accommodations for a number of a million spectators. For the first time in the history of rowing in the United States, foreign crews will be seen in competition, and the regatta will be of a thoroughly representative international character.

An invitation has been extended to the National Association of Amateur Swimmers to hold the annual regatta of the organization at the exposition, and the invitation will undoubtedly be accepted. Several of the prominent officials of the National Association and well-known swimmers have examined the proposed course, and are unanimous in saying that it will be the finest ever laid out in the United States.

The National Regatta has never been held further south than Washington, and although there are a number of boat clubs in the South, New Orleans is the only city in the Southern States that has been represented in the National Regatta. It is expected that when the next National Regatta is at Jamestown, there will be a national revival in rowing in the South, and that swimmers will be proud to represent their clubs in the national regatta. Southern clubs are already making preparations for the regatta, and a list representation is assured.

The development of swimming in recent years has attracted widespread attention, and a series of races between the best swimmers in America will be arranged.

The Amateur Athletic Union swimming, diving and water polo championships will likely be awarded to the Jamestown Exposition. The many events will extend over the entire part of a week, while rowing and football events, and football events will provide interesting and exciting sport for the numerous visitors to the exposition.

The Amateur Athletic Union secretary of the American Athletic Union, in charge of athletic contests, has been in charge of the exposition. No more in the country is better qualified to manage an athletic event. The success of the exposition will be the success of the American Athletic Union, and the success of the American Athletic Union will be the success of the exposition.

SOCIETY.

Mr. H. Lee Bishop, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Bishop, took place Wednesday evening in the home of the bride's parents, the Rev. Charles O. Woodward, of Columbia Avenue Christian Church, officiating.

Mrs. Stanley H. Ford was mistress of honor, and Mr. Stanley R. Ford was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop left for a Northern tour, to include visits to relatives in Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

Mrs. Cabell's Tea.

Mrs. James Alston Cabell, of No. 410 East Franklin Street, was the charming hostess of a reception and tea, given Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock, in honor of a number of out-of-town guests in the city.

Mrs. Cabell's parlors, hall and dining-room were decorated in roses, dahlias, carnations, ferns and palms. The dining-room was especially attractive with its wealth of elegant silver and cut-glass.

A number of pretty young girls, among them Misses Beasly and Nancy Allen, assisted in serving the refreshments.

Special guests of the afternoon were Mrs. Bousquet, of New Orleans; Mrs. Austin, Miss Davidson, Miss Ridgeley and Miss Triggs, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Gladys Smith, of New York; Mrs. Reese, of Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. Pugh and Miss McIlroy, of New Orleans; Mrs. and Miss Baker, of Winchester, Va.; and Mrs. Garrett, of Gooch, of Staunton.

Mrs. Cabell, who always entertains in most delightful fashion, was greeted in her parlors by a number of her Richmond friends who were asked to meet the strangers, and the reception proved one of the most agreeable social features of the season, crowded with such events. The beauty of the afternoon helped to render the occasion doubly attractive.

Personal Mention.

This Store's Millinery Predominates

Richmond's Most Remarkable Style Show.

We could not have built the most gigantic millinery business in Richmond without the most essential foundation stone—"MERIT." And merit has only been earned because quality and right pricing have worked hand in hand. We place every other feature in the shadow of originality of style and clever designing. These must be paramount—and they are. What has been the result? A millinery show that could not be exceeded were this a world's exposition instead of a store for the sale of ladies' headgear.

The Imported and Productions from our own work-rooms ARE CHANGING DAILY and you'll need no other words to bring you here.

PARTNERSHIP GAME.

Negro Man Makes Felonious Assault: Women Pick Pockets.

Edna Jones, Henrietta Mankin, and Thelma Johnson (negroes) were sent to the grand jury for Justice Crutcher in Police Court yesterday morning on the very serious charge of highway robbery and assault. If they are convicted, it will probably mean that they will go to the penitentiary.

The highway robbery mentioned Friday night was about the boldest one brought to the attention of the Richmond police for some time. Mr. W. J. Wood was the victim. He was passing along Nineteenth Street near Franklin Friday night, when, just as he was crossing the mouth of an alley, he was struck on the cheek with a heavy knuck.

The assailant is alleged to have been Edna Jones. The blow staggered Mr. Wood, and the blood gushed from the wound in his cheek. He grappled with the negro man, and in the struggle was again struck. Two women, supposed to be those arrested, were all the while going through him.

They relieved him of a gold watch and a bundle of merchandise he carried under his arm. Leaving their victim almost unconscious, the negro man and the women made off. Not long afterwards they were captured, and in court Mr. Wood positively identified each one. Justice Crutcher remanded them to the House of Correction without bail.

IN A PLASTER CAST.

Senator Daniel Uses Crutch With Left Hand.

LYNCHBURG, VA., October 12.—United States Senator John W. Daniel, who sprained his right arm a week ago in a fall while going to the fair at night, is about now, though he is greatly handicapped by being forced to use his crutch under his left arm instead of the right, the injured one. The wrist is still in a plaster cast and will probably remain so for another week.

Major Daniel has leased a house on Federal Street until next June, and he is moving his family there from his country home in the western section.

He is doing this in order that Mrs. Daniel may spend the winter in this city while he is in attendance upon Congress.

Primary Teachers.

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES-DISPATCH:—The executive committee of the Primary

Teachers' Association of North Carolina met here yesterday and decided to hold the annual meeting of the association in Salisbury, November 25-26. This will be the second annual gathering of the organization, which had its origin at Greensboro one year ago. Its membership comprises seventy-five of the leading lady teachers throughout the State, of which Miss Leah Jones, of New Bern, is president, and Miss Annie McIlhenny, of Greensboro, is secretary.

Where the Cable Trade-mark Appears the Piano Gives SATISFACTION

You will hear of other pianos, and you will hear their merits lauded to the extreme, but in every case, and regardless of what the conditions may be.

Remember This:

The line of Pianos that is represented by The Cable Company's trade-mark challenges comparison with any similar line of Pianos in the world. The Cable Company insists that you see other Pianos before examining the Famous Cable Line. Our Pianos improve by comparison. The more you examine the other Pianos, the stronger will be your conviction as to the superior excellence of the Cable Line.

The Cable Line of Pianos

(Synonymous to perfect Pianos)

Guaranteed by the Trade-Mark and Millions Capital.

THE REASON IS THIS: The Cable Line of Pianos are made, captured according to the highest standards, the best construction and workmanship enter into their construction. These must undergo the most exacting tests before leaving the factory. When they do leave they are as near perfect as Pianos can be. Write for catalogue and descriptive booklet to nearest agent.
